Logistics

Exchange rate is approximately £1.00 = D12.00.

Language : French and Berber. You can get by with a little difficulty in English.

Friday evening flight from London Gatwick to Marrakech Menara International (3h10mins). Flight cost around £85.00 per person return through Royal Air Maroc website <http://www.royalairmaroc.com> (flight is operated by Atlas Blue).

Car Hire – searched through <https://www.cartrawler.com>. Agent : Argus Car Hire. Car hire is expensive – approximately £200 for 6 days. I'd advise you don't take the Extra insurance on offer from the website, as the rental company is going to bill you an extra £6.00 a day in any case. I suggest that this insurance is taken. Avoiding dings, scratches, windscreen chips and accidents in general is extremely difficult – driving conditions explained later.

Fuel costs around D10.00 a litre. Typical meals cost around D250 per couple, while accommodation in modest hotels costs around D300 – D350 per twin room.

Driving conditions - Moroccan driving standards are atrocious, particularly the local Mercedes Taxis, Tour busses and newer trucks. Overtaking 3 or more vehicles around a blind cutback is 'normal'. It is advisable to allow taxis and tour busses to overtake you as soon as possible – I took to slowing down so that they could do this before I entered any bends in the road.

Traffic police are all over the country and it is best to stick rigidly to traffic laws. You can expect to encounter Road Blocks at least twice a day. I was pulled over for two minor Infractions which carry a D400 fine each. Co-operation and good manors meant I paid a D200 unofficial fine. I wouldn't suggest attempting to bribe any of the officers, my unofficial fine was a slight surprise and accepted as much.

Itinerary

09/10/2009 - Flight departed Gatwick an hour late – no surprise. Customs is fairly straight forward if not reminiscent of a communist style state. Baggage collection is long and tedious – you are best to move baggage off the carousel otherwise further baggage will not be added to it. Hire car process takes some time and we were hit another £30 for 'late' pickup!

10/10/2009 - Our intention was to drive from Marrakech towards Ouarzazate through the morning (Road N9). Roads are well signposted. The drive itself is long and difficult. While the roads are decent dual carriageway, the cutbacks through the high Atlas take time. I would however suggest that driving this road at night is preferable to driving during daylight hours as there are fewer vehicles and one is able to see oncoming traffic much easier.

Ultimately we did not quite reach Ouarzazate as I was too tired to continue driving. We pulled over for 2 hours of sleep before continuing on through Ouarzazate towards Boumale-du-Dades (Road N10). Driving conditions much easier over this entire journey. Birded intermittently along the way, stopping at Mansour Eddahbi Dam and various unnamed spots en route. Arrived in Boumalne-du-Dades around 15:00 in time to check into the hotel (Hotel Soleil Bleu – highly recommended – email the hotel directly for accommodation: le_soleilbleu@yahoo.fr). After checking in, spent a few hours on the Tagdilt Track.

11/10/2009 – Woke up late to have breakfast before attacking the Tagdilt Track proper (the entire road all the way to Tagdilt and back can be done fairly comfortably with a typical saloon car during decent weather). Completed birding in the early afternoon before departing for overnight in Ouarzazate. Checked into hotel late afternoon (La Perle du Sud Hotel – highly recommended – made arrangements via www.travelrepublic.co.uk). Drove back out to Mansour Eddahbi Dam for remaining few hours of daylight.

12/10/2009 – Departed Ouarzazate at 03:00 heading for Agadir. Driving conditions initially difficult from Ouarzazate to Tazenakht (Road N10). From Tazenakht good time can be made on decent roads towards Aoulouz. Cut time on road by taking junction prior to Aoulouz (Road P1706) which connects with the N10 past Taroudant. Took Agadir Airport junction south (Road N1) to the Oued Massa. Arrived a little after 09:00 and spent most of day here. Hotel in Agadir reached at 15:00 (La Petite Suede – would not recommend, shoddy part of town with overzealous car guards). Drove south through rush hour Agadir traffic to reach Oued Souss for a few hours.

13/10/2009 – Departed Agadir for Essaouira (Road N1) at 06:00 with the intention of reaching Cap Rhir for some pelagic birding and Oued Tamri. Winter sea mist made pelagics impossible. Continued further north into Argan habitat. Arrived in Essaouira at 14:00, checked in at hotel (Bahja de Mogador – again, not recommended due to location. Car guards around the sea front lie about directions and are impetuous beyond belief. Steer well clear of downtown! Birded Oued Ksab for the rest of the afternoon.

14/10/2009 – Our intention was to continue to Marrakech today, but changed plans due to lack of Northern Bald Ibis at this stage. Departed at 04:00 for return journey to Oued Tamri. Still no Ibis, but bumped into some birders who gave us excellent info. We continued on to Agadir and further south to the fishing village of Tifnite. Local guide marched us across the dunes in search of Ibis. Left Tifnite at 13:00 for Marrakech (Road N8). A new road is currently under construction for this route – it did not look as though it would be ready for at least another year or so. Road conditions as per the rest of the country, but many mountain passes to travel on this road with the addition of heavy truck traffic. Arrived in Marrakech around 16:30. Stayed at Ryad Mogador Marrakech (fairly average location, but hotel itself is good).

15/10/2009 – early morning flight out of Marrakech Menara.

Final Distance covered: 1850km

Birding Locations and Species of Interest

Tagdilt Track

Just outside of Boumalne-du-Dades en route to Er Rachidia. A number of various routes available, although the suggested access is from the 'New' Tagdilt Track – right turn just prior to kilometre marker 'Tinghir 48'. If staying at Auberge Soleil Bleu, check the sightings book for updates.

Longlegged Buzzard	few at 'rubbish dump'
Barbary Falcon	single near human habitation
Black-bellied Sandgrouse	1 covey near Tagdilt town
Crowned Sandgrouse	1 covey near start of track
Theckla Lark	common throughout
Greater Hooper Lark	one flock, very near to Tagdilt town, very accommodating
Greater Short-toed Lark	small numbers
Thick-billed Lark	small numbers surrounding wadis
Temminck's Horned Lark	common at start of track
Black Wheatear	small numbers near human habitation
Desert Wheatear	common on track
Mourning Wheatear	3 birds neat start of track
Red-rumped Wheatear	common throughout
White-crowned Black Wheatear	common on power and telephone lines
Great Grey Shrike (elegans)	at military compound
Trumpeter Finch	common within wadis

Target Species missed : Cream-coloured Courser, Lesser Short-toed Lark, Bar-tailed Lark, Pin-tailed Sandgrouse.

Oued Massa

Reached comfortably from Agadir. Drive south for approximately 55km, taking turnoff at signpost 'Massa / Sidi-Rabat' (it is located on the left hand side of the road!)

Greater Flamingo	large flock present
Marbled Duck	small flocks
Red-crested Pochard	common
Barbary Partridge	small coveys in farm lands en route to river end
Bonelli's Eagle	2 individuals
Kentish Plover	common on beech
Audouin's Gull	common on beech
Yellow-legged Gull	common on beech
Ring-billed Gull	at least 3 present on beech amongst Yellow-legged Gulls
Moussier's Redstart	common
Southern Grey Shrike (algeriensis)	singles seen relatively often
Sardinian Warbler	common
Melodious Warbler	at least 2 individuals present, showing very well
Spanish Sparrow	small numbers in farm lands
Pallas's Grasshopper Warbler	1 bird in reed scrubs at river end
Cirl Bunting	common in village en route to river end

Oued Souss

Just south of Agadir, turn right at Golf du Soleil and drive towards Royal Palace. Park just before Palace on the side of the road and walk along lagoon.

Slender-billed Gull	4 adults still with pinkish underparts
Lesser Crested Tern	1 adult amongst commoner Sandwich Terns

Oued Tamri

Located just past Cap Rhir, the river mouth will come into view, shortly after and gravel road will lead off the road. Park up walk to edge of lagoon. The lagoon cannot be traversed particularly far.

White Stork	single adult amongst European Spoonbills
Marbled Duck	small flock
Red-crested Pochard	common
Kingfisher	single amongst reeds

No Northern Bald Ibis today

Essaouira (Oued Ksab)

The Oued Ksab is easily reached just prior to entering town. A bridge is currently under construction over the river, but access between south and north bank is still available.

Eleonora's Falcon	common along the Oued Ksab
Plain Martin	common
Moroccan Wagtail (subpersonata)	common
Black-crowned Tchagra	heard a number of times along river bank

Tifnite

Easily reached approximately 25km south of Agadir. Fishing town is approximately 10km from junction. Road stops about 500metres from village and it is necessary to walk the rest of the way. Start searching on the western dunes above the village. Ibis often feed within the black bag infested dunes here. It is likely that a local guide will pick you up whether you want them or not. Expect a fee of D100 for their successful services. It was necessary to ascend and descend a number of steep dunes for up to 3km before finally finding the birds. According to our guide, they will be in the area, you may have to walk the full length as we did or get lucky and have them feeding neat he village (best early in the morning between 06:00 and 08:00).

Northern Bald Ibis	approximately 300 individuals on sea facing dunes
Peregrine Falcon (brookei / minor)	2 individuals hunting – exact sub-species is still considered debateable
